Sells Bonds

4.175% Lowest Bid on L-W Issue

Lincoln-Way high school board sold $500,000 of building bonds at its regular meeting last Thursday night and recessed until tonight when it expects to open bids on the addition to be built to the school.

Five bids were submitted on the bonds. The bids were sealed and were opened at 8 o'clock, the time set forth in the advertisements circulated among bond houses.

The federal government offering higher interest on their bonds has affected other issues and as a result Lincoln-Way district will pay more to finance this addition than it did the last. The district sold bonds at approximately 3.68% interest.

The bonds sold last Thursday will carry a net interest rate of 4.17506%. Prior to the meeting School Supt. A. Hunter Chapman said that the board expected the interest rate on the current bond issue would be in excess of 4%.

The successful bid on the bonds was submitted by A. C. Allyn & Co. Inc., Frantz Hutchinson & Co., and the White-Phillips Co. Inc.

The other bids were: B. J. Van Ingen & Co. and Associates, 4.2087%; H. C. Speer & Sons Co., Stifel, Nicolaus & Co., M. B. Vick & Co., 4.292%; John Nuveen & Co. and Harry J. Wilson & Co., 4.2995%; Barbus, Kindred & Co., McDougal & Condon Inc. and Channer Securities Co., 4.33%.

On a motion by Lester B.

Case, seconded by Loris Schleeter, the board voted unanimously to sell the bonds to Allyn and the firms associated with them in the bidding.

The bid by these firms calls for 3% interest on bonds maturing in the years 1962 to 1974, inclusive and 4% on bonds maturing in the years 1975 to 1979.

They also pay a premium of $128.50 so that the net interest will be 4.17506%.

The board will open bids on the building tonight at 8 o'clock. It probably will be sometime next week before the bids are compiled so the contract can be awarded, as there are several alternatives in the plans.

Valuable Scholarship

Mokena Lad Wins 4-Years at IIT

DOUGLAS PORICK

Douglas Porick, a 17 year-old Lincoln-Way senior from Mokena, has won a four year scholarship to Illinois Institute of Technology. With his earnings from guaranteed jobs the scholarship will have a total value of approximately $8,000.

Donor of the scholarship is the Western Actuarial Bureau and Douglas will be obligated to work for the Bureau for at least three years following graduation from IIT.

His average is an exact B. He attended Plamondon grade school at Chicago before his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Porick, of 11502 194th st., moved to Mokena eight years ago. Douglas attended Mokena grade school three years and is now winding up his senior year at Lincoln-Way from where he will be graduated June 2.

He was in a group of 500 applicants for the scholarship. Sixty were chosen from the 500 to take an examination and the top 20, of which Douglas was one, received scholarships.

This summer Douglas will work for the Illinois Inspection Bureau. At college he will concentrate on chemistry and mathematics.

MOKENA CONNECTS SEWERS

Orland Park Board Discusses Sewer Program

With work started by the Chicago Sanitary district on the sewage disposal plant intended for Orland Park the village board there is now preparing to launch a sewer program for the older section of the community.

At a meeting Monday night, which had been continued from the regular session the Monday previous, the board talked with Mark Lovejoy, the village engineer. No engineer has been retained yet to design and plan the sewer.

A letter from Benjamin and Lang, a Chicago bond house, offering to handle the bond issue that will be necessary to build the sewers, was read and after some discussion Village Attorney Raymond Pieper was instructed to confer with Edward Benjamin on the financing of the project.

Orland Park has dealt with Benjamin and Lang before on bond sales and Mayor W. R. Schussler Jr. pointed out the firm enjoyed an excellent reputation and that to enter into a contract with some financial firm would relieve the board of many technical details and probably would save money for the village in the end.

He added, however, that he didn't care if the board called in a dozen or more bond firms before reaching any conclusions.

"The only drawback to such a procedure," the mayor said, "would be to consume time and delay getting started. We could probably confer with bond houses all summer and at the end we would still have to make a choice."

Trustee Joseph Lebens had demurred when the motion was first made to have Pieper confer with Benjamin. He thought that the conference was intended to agree upon a contract between the village and the bond house.

There had been some talk earlier about expenditures involving small amounts.

"It looks like we are being extra careful about a $4 item but ready to rush in on something that costs thousands, without much study," Lebens said.

When it was explained that the reason for Pieper's conference with Benjamin was to obtain more information for further study, Lebens was satisfied and the vote on the motion, which had been made by Lloyd Cowan and seconded by Bretland A. Blair, was unanimous.

Pieper is expected to make a report back to the board at the regular meeting next Monday night.

Frankfort Plan, Village, Zoning Boards to Meet

A special meeting is slated for Monday night, May 25, at 8 p.m. in the Frankfort village hall to discuss zoning and building codes.

The village board, the zoning board of appeals and the village plan commission are to go into details of ordinances concerning the building up of the area.

At its meeting this week, the village board discussed some questions pertaining to the subdivision planned by the McIntosh company north of U. S. 30 and west of U. S. 45. Originally the company had planned to develop 100 acres there but now plans to subdivide 155 acres.

The village sewage treatment plant is to be located in this subdivision, some place in the northwest portion. The exact site has not been agreed upon as yet.

The Frankfort grade school board also is interested in the project because the prospect of several hundred more families in the area will mean additional school space.

All indications point to the necessity of building another school, probably in this new area when it is opened up. The subdividers would annex the area to the village and the

Disposal Plant Ready; Householders Can Apply For Connection Permits

Mokena householders have begun making connections this week with the new sanitary sewer system. The sewage treatment works located on the west side of Wolf road north of the village is in operation so connections may be made as speedily as possible, it was announced Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the board of trustees.

Before connections may be made, however, a property owner must fill out an application form for a permit, obtainable from Village Clerk Alvin Sorensen. There is no fee for such a permit, providing the applicant is one of those who made a $10 deposit at the time he signed up for the sewer when the improvement was originally proposed.

The deposit was made to show the signature was bona fide. The bond house required this as it wanted to be sure of approximately 350 users before it would agree to purchase the bonds issued to cover the cost of constructing the system.

Persons who have made such deposits can have them remitted in cash later or have them apply against their water and sewer bills. Persons who did not sign up for sewers at the beginning will have to pay a connection fee of $100, according to the existing ordinance.

An attempt is being made by such persons to persuade the village board to change this ordinance and let them in at a much lower fee. Some are said to be clamoring that they should be permitted to connect for the original $10 fee.

So far the board has shown no disposition to change the set up. Various members have pointed out that everyone had an opportunity to take advantage of the original connection fee and feel that it would be unfair to those who went along with the program to allow the johnnies come lately to get in at the same figure.

Indications are that the board will stand pat on the $100 fee. It is necessary for property owners to apply for connection permits now, the board explained, so the village will have a complete record of the connections, by name, lot, block and subdivision or addition.

All connections made with the sewer must be left open, the board emphasized, until they are inspected.

The present treatment plant is large enough to accommodate a population of 3,500 and is so designed that it can be expanded easily and economically when the population exceeds that figure.

Robert Hamilton, of Joliet, is the engineer who designed the plant and sewer system. He has also been retained by Frankfort for the same purpose. Hamilton is pushing final plans for the Frankfort system and hopes to be able to take bids by late summer on that project.

At Tuesday's meeting the Mokena board granted permission to Lloyd Warning and Frederick Rauch to tap in on the water system.

The board is also considering some adjustment on tap ins where the property owners have to install pipe to carry the water a considerable distance. The present water connection fee is $100. When finances permit the village is expected to extend present mains to sections now served by small diameter lines.

It was pointed out that by spending money in this fashion the village could make money thru the sale of water.

village is willing inasmuch as the developers have agreed to install sewer and water mains and build the streets.

The subdividers also have expressed a willingness to advance a substantial sum of money for use in building the village sewer system. The figure most frequently heard in this connection is $50,000.

Await Hearing on Petition for Formation of Mokena Park District

Judge John C. Cowing of the Will County court may set a hearing date today on the petition filed in his court last Friday for establishment of a park district in the Mokena area.

Attorney Ray Hoolahan, of Mokena, who is representing the petitioners, was scheduled to appear in court today with a motion to set a date on which the sufficiency of the petition would be determined by the court.

If approved — and it is to be expected that all requirements have been met — the court will then set a date for an election. At that time the people of the confines of the proposed district will vote yes or no on the question of shall a park district be formed.

At the same time the people would elect a park board. The board will have five members and their nominating petitions will be filed with the county clerk.

Charles Swanberg, who has been identified with Mokena's Community park since it was acquired by the Mokena Civic association, has been taking a leading part in the promotion of a park district.

The proposal is being explained to the membership of the various organizations in the area. Swanberg, Hoolahan, George Bills, Kenneth Sherwood and George F. Carlisle, all members of the Civic association have appeared before these bodies to ask their support of the park district plan.

Organizations contacted or to be contacted include:

Mokena Lions, Volunteer Fire dept., Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, Chamber of Commerce, PTA, Holy Name Society, Sacred Heart league, St. John's Men's club, St. John's Women's Guild, St. John's Friendly circle, Methodist Men's club, Methodist women, village board, school board, Wayfarers, Plan commission, Lutheran Men's club, Lutheran women, St. John's

Sunday evening club, Marley church, Baptist church, Book club.

The proposed district covers a radius of approximately two miles around Mokena but does not encroach upon territory usually looked upon as in the Frankfort area.

According to Mr. Swanberg the reaction from persons in the proposed district is favorable for the project. At present the Mokena Community park is supported thru donations, as is the case in other parks in neighboring villages. This is a satisfactory way of operating, people agree who have the job of maintaining park facilities and equipment.

If a park district is formed a tax is levied but the cost would be slight, Swanberg said. The Mokena district would begin with the park in that village and later could expand its holdings in other sections as the need arose, it was pointed out.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Bernice Bigger of Marquette, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rogus, 17701 S. Ridgeland av., Tinley Park.

ORLAND PARK BOARD—

The question of hiring an engineer may come up at that time too it was indicated.

Lovejoy told the board that a complete survey will have to be made before an estimate can be made of the probable cost of a sewer system. The board also is looking into the possibility of getting a government grant to meet the cost of the survey and preliminary plans. If the program is carried thru the grant would have to be repaid but if it failed then repayment would not be necessary.

Financing of the sewer project probably would be accomplished thru general obligation bonds, which are retired thru taxes, plus revenue bonds which would be paid for out of charges for water and sewer service. Special assessment bonds are seldom used because of a lack of buyers and a heavy interest rate.

"I feel certain," Mayor Schussler said, "that when the time comes that the people of Orland Park will support the program. They all want a fine, healthy progressive town and one of the necessities for a modern community is a modern sewer system."

Before general obligation bonds can be issued, authority for such a step must be given by the citizens of a community at a referendum.

Solicit Cancer Fund Donations At New Lenox

Because there has been no personal solicitation for donations to support the Cancer Crusade in New Lenox this year, and because many persons have expressed a desire to contribute to this worthy cause, a method whereby they can do so has been devised.

For the next week, patrons of the Economy Super Mart, Lincoln Highway, will receive a pamphlet and return envelope which may be used for their contribution to the Cancer Crusade. Each envelope is marked with an "N" so that New Lenox will be credited with the amount when the contributions come to the Will County Chapter office.

Cancer is now the number two killer of men, women and children. If present rates continue, 49,000-50,000 Americans now living will develop cancer. Cancer will strike two out of three families.

To find the cause and cure of cancer is the society's goal. Much progress has been made but there is still much to be done. That is why the Cancer Crusade is so important to every American. The money is used in research and to help those suffering from the disease.

By reading the pamphlet in the grocery bag and submitting a contribution, you can do your part in helping to eliminate the dreaded disease.

Last year a total of $531.75 was collected in New Lenox thru the cooperation of the Woman's club, Garden club, and Mrs. Frank Vail, crusade chairman.

The Economy Super Mart is vitally interested in the program and is willing to cooperate in the collection of funds from those who would like to contribute, by distributing the literature and envelopes.

Gas Company Seeks Minimum Bill Increase

Northern Illinois Gas Company asked the Illinois Commerce commission May 12th for permission to increase residential and small commercial minimum bills from 70 cents to $1 monthly.

According to W. J. Crowley, NI-Gas vice president and comptroller, less than 50,000 of the utility's 640,000 customers will be affected by this increase in minimum billing. Many of these customers, Crowley said, use natural gas in summer homes only a few months each year or in apartments where the monthly use doesn't exceed about 5 therms.

He said that increasing costs of installation and maintenance of necessary facilities for these customers, including the meter and regulator, plus the expense of billing, prompted the request.

At the same time, the utility proposed a 10 per cent reduction in gas rates for its Bloomington district. The proposed reduction would apply to approximately 14,000 customers in the company's Bloomington district comprising Bloomington, Downs, Farmer City, Le-

Roy and Normal.

NI-Gas acquired the gas properties in that area in 1955. The current request to lower rates there is a further step in the company's program to bring the Bloomington district's rates into line with those now in effect elsewhere in the utility's service area.

The estimated net effect of these two requests will be a reduction of $30,000 annually in the utility's revenues.

Back in the 50-caliber machine gun era, a fighter plane could fire on an enemy at a small cost. Now, says Newsweek, the missiles with which our new fighters are equipped cost $7,000 each—and with an atomic warhead, $243,000.

Peotone Adds New Features To Homecoming

Peotone is busy now with preparations for its annual Homecoming which will be held May 29-30-31.

The affair is sponsored by Peotone American Legion, post No. 392, and several new features are on this year's program. One of them will be a big fireworks display Memorial Day night. The Kiddy parade, scheduled for Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock, is another.

Every child entered in this parade is assured of a prize and there also will be a grand award.

Other new features include a fish fry on Friday and a chicken fry on Saturday.

To start off the Homecoming the youngsters who come to the midway between 6:30 and 8:30 o'clock Friday night will be given free rides. Tickets will be furnished by Peotone merchants.

The midway will be located in the same location as last year—on the street in front of the Legion's quarters.

The Peotone Champion is to be named at 11 o'clock Sunday night. This is a mystery gimmick—one of those who is it what it is things and persons who would have their curiosity satisfied must be present. The champion gets a $100 award.

Arrest Lockport Man After Crash With School Bus

Rudolph Spacil, 33, Rt. 1, Lockport, was arrested by the state police after he had crashed into a school bus, injuring one girl student so severely she is hospitalized.

That Spacil was driving at high speed, police pointed out, was evident by the fact there were 63 feet of skid marks left by offending car. The bus, which is owned by the Mackin Motors Co. of Lockport, and leased by the Lockport high school, had stopped to pick up some students at 143rd street and Creme road, Homer town ship, when it was struck from the rear by Spacil.

A girl student, Edna Mae Burcham, 17, was hurled to the front of the bus and suffered numerous body bruises taken to Silver Cross hospital and was still undergoing treatment there this week.

Spacil was issued a ticket by State Trooper William Hecht on a charge of traveling too fast for conditions. He also could be charged with failure to stop for a halted school bus. Under state law no vehicle is supposed to pass a halted school bus, from the front or the rear.

Bettenhausen to Qualify Saturday

By DEAN DALLAS
Sports Editor

(Indianapolis Special)
Tony Bettenhausen and his 9 or 28 lives will be driving the Hoover Motor Express Special in the time trials on Saturday at Indianapolis.

The sleek, yellow No. 23, which will become No. 1 if Tony qualifies, turned over at about 143 mph in practice runs on Monday.

The Ansted-Rotary Special which was demolished in the spectacular crash in a practice run last Saturday cannot be repaired. The engine was the only salvagable part.

Bettenhausen was back at the farm, planting corn on Tuesday morning. He was hoping that it would not rain and get his farming behind.

Tony had an unofficial practice run of near 148 mph in the Ansted. He seemed a little upset, not about the crash but at the possibility of losing the car.

Jim Rathmann seemed to be holding his car in check as he qualified last Saturday under 145 mph. He had a practice lap of 147.

If Bettenhausen can get the Hoover Special running as he desires a great duel could develop with Rathmann.

TRACK TALK:
Roger Ward is not considered too great a threat. He is known as a short driver. Mechanics claimed that the cold weather was giving them trouble with carburetion last week-end. They claimed that the chill made the fuel too lean and thus caused engines to overheat.

Johnny Thomson turned in a new track record with the new type car owned by the Racing Associates Spl. This is the first year for roll bars at the Speedway and it was a life-giving first for Bettenhausen. Tony escaped with only a bump on the nose from his crash. It is probably the only man to walk out alive from such an accident at the "500."

About 125,000 fans were on hand for the time trials, largest in history.

SW Baseball War Resumes Today

Bremen and Sandburg Battle For a Chance to Share in Title

The traffic snarl at the top of the SWS baseball circuit is worse than the Indianapolis Speedway. Four teams are trying to muscle in for the championship. Four teams are tied for first place with three losses.

The Bremen Braves and CS Eagles meet on the Orland Bluff to do battle for a crack at the top spot or a drop to as low as fourth place.

Bremen lost to Thornton Township after beating Blue Island, in the sectional play.

Sandburg lost out in the first round of sectional effort. However, the Eagles hold a 6-5 win over the Redmen of Midlothian earlier in the season.

This will be a struggle! Bremen misses shortstop Jim Hartman. There isn't a replacement on the squad for him.

Rich has finished the season and will definitely finish in a tie for the top spot. Oak Lawn made it all close again by beating the Rockets for the second time this season last week.

The Spartans have a game tonight. It is quite possible that three teams will be locked in a struggle for the league lead.

Due to the lateness of the season it is probable that a playoff will not materialize. However, this is not an official ruling from the league office.

The Braves should rule as favorites in this game with Sandburg. Yes, they are on the Eagles bluff, but they are a group of revenge-bent Indians. They have the slugging power and the Eagles still have trouble hitting a fast curve ball. Pete Loverich of Bremen throws that kind of pitch.

The loss to Sandburg was due in large part to the wildness by Pete.

If Loverich comes up with the good game—Sandburg will be the team down in fourth place.

Yet, one can't count the Eagles out. They have arisen in the clutch all season to remain in the thick of the SWS championship melee.

Coach Hank Meier has said all year that they are young and not too good. But when needed they have produced the runs and the pitching for victories.

Probably rubber arm Phil Yurtis, Sandburg workhorse, will, no doubt, get the nod for the Eagles.

The game will probably show about 10 to 12 runs and will be a close battle or a real rout by either the Eagles or the Redmen.

Both have demonstrated thru the season explosive ability and also the desire and courage to battle in a close

Eagles Golf Team Wins Fourth Straight Conference Championship

The Eagle drops in the birdies!

An eagle is better than a birdie, but Carl Sandburg won without either in the SWS.

On a wet, windblown Silver Lake golf course the Carl Sandburg golf team turned in its fourth straight conference title with a record breaking total of 329 strokes yesterday.

An Orland Park team with two of this year's finishers set the old record of 348 in

Rich finished second with 351, Reavis third, 362. Evergreen Park had 369. Oak Lawn was last with 418.

Tom Schreiber of Sandburg was medalist with a 79, five over par. Tom had 40 on the first nine and 39 coming home at Silver Lake.

Tom Cripps and Ed Galapeaux tied for second with 83, and Cripps won in a playoff to finish second. Galapeaux dropped to third. Both of these men were from Sandburg.

Bill Hayes of Sandburg and Ed Collins of Rich finished in a tie for fifth. Collins won in the playoff over Hayes.

The Eagles took four of the five places as well as the trophy and the record of team total.

The Eagles team was in the state tournament over the week-end and finished 20th in a field of 29 teams.

Browsing Through The Cold Stove League

By DEAN DALLAS, Sports Editor

A local athletic program is rapidly developing in the American community as a must. Far too many of our young men live life as of secondary experience, trying to know the whole of life thru the identification with paid professionals.

The American local program is on the wane; fading under the hammer blows of professional advertising. The Chicago White Sox are of more concern than the child's future. In fact, more adulation is poured on some "super-star" than we place on our "clement" institutions of society.

We can pay a man like Ted Williams $125,000 for eight months' labor, but cannot pay a teacher much more than $5,000. A bench rider in the big leagues is worth $7,000. We spend more on amusement in America than we do on our educational and spiritual institutions. Sorry plight!

A young baseball fan can quote the facts and figures of the league, but is failing in school. He has learned the rudiments of a game, but cannot get on with his friends. That young man feels like Ted Williams at the park. In real life he hasn't learned to face the problems or accommodate joys.

This kind of thinking is surging thru our communities and making a sort of spectator culture. More concern can be generated over the White Sox than over civic issues. People would sooner fight over such stuff as athletic events than fight over important issues.

Youths are considered a success if they become an Elvis Presley or a Stan Musial. Yes, these men have a place in our country, but rather a large place — larger than they deserve. Our newspapers criticize the political leaders of our community, but fail to make editorial comment on such a fiasco as the Eddie Fisher — Elizabeth Taylor business. They instead place the "moral" pair on the front pages. These are the people who count in society—it appears.

Sports and amusement are not something that needs to be eliminated. What we need is a re-orientation of values. Can we afford to spend the larger portion of our income on a little identification with big celebrities? You answer that.

We need more local and actual participation in athletics and amusements. Little leagues, with correct emphasis, are a considerable help. They should not be another minor league for the majors. Other organizations on the community level for amusement are healthy. When we pay the professional consistently we say that we haven't any creativity.

There is something honest and sincere in local and unprofessional efforts. There is something wholesome and far more rewarding than one can imagine—until they are in some such program.

It is always far more important in a local community to be concerned with what is happening at home. We lose the semblance of a cooperative spirit, a creative individuality, and a desire to participate as we pay the TV, major league stars, Hollywood dolls, all of the time. It is fun to watch the stars, but it isn't much fun to eat them or to let an undisciplined mind feast on them.

To really have a cooperative venture we must have a great amount of personal participation. Today we have adulation or criticism — that is all that we spectators are allowed or are able to muster.

How many have asked for the autograph of spiritual magnitude, educational excellence, Christ-like understanding... but most would prize the autograph of Ted Williams, Marilyn Monroe or Nell-e Fox.

Ah! perspective—you are an elusive and unmodern gem. Cheerio... I'm an optimist!

Payments Lag, Finance Company "Steals" Plane

(CNS) That flashy red and white Piper Apache plane reported stolen May 3 from its Midway Airport hanger was not stolen. It was only repossessed by a finance company. Richard D. Auerbach, agent in charge of the Chicago FBI office disclosed this week.

The FBI and other federal agencies had launched investigations after the National Aero Service company, 5320 West 63rd st., Chicago, which housed the plane for Robert Mayer, head of the Oxy-Lyte corp., 3232 Archer, complained someone flew the $20,000 twin engined craft out of its coop.

Auerbach said that investigation showed a pilot hired by the finance company, dissatisfied with mortgage payments, hopped into the plane on the field and without waiting to clear with the control tower, flew it to an airport near St. Louis, Mo., the finance company headquarters.

We are defending the freedom and the dignity of the individual, the right to be masters of our selves and of our government, and to be servants only of our God. Defend? We must not only defend. The Federal Gasoline Tax

Last week President Eisenhower asked Congress to hike the federal gasoline tax 1½ cent, which would bring it up to 4½ cents a gallon.

The reason for this, the President pointed out in his message, was that insufficient funds were on hand to carry on with the national highway program on a pay-as-you-go basis unless more revenue is forthcoming.

Congress is reported to be cool toward the proposal of the government thrusting its hand any deeper into the motorist's pocket than it already is. There was a time, of course, when the automobile was considered a luxury and was owned only by the well-to-do.

If that were the case now Congress might feel differently about the President's proposal, as soaking the rich is provided for in most political rule books today. But with practically everyone in the country owning some sort of a motor vehicle today a lot of votes are at stake.

We are glad that Congress has given the proposed gas tax boost a cool reception. From what we have been able to read on the subject the bureau boys at Washington have the total burden of highway financing to the backs of highway users. The program now in the works is officially known as the National System of Interstate and Defense Highways and was set up in 1956 under the Federal Aid Highway Act.

Originally the program called for 40,000 miles of superhighways linking major cities and the estimated price was jotted down as 27.6 billion dollars.

Since then another thousand miles of road have been worked into the picture with more lanes and 63 percent more interchanges. The price has now climbed to $40-billion and if the motorists have to pay that off thru gasoline taxes the time is not far off when either the automobile owners or the project will have to fold up.

In announcing the highway program special emphasis was given to the military needs such a system would fill but there hasn't been any money allotted for the purpose out of the huge sums appropriated to the armed services.

There are many taxes on automobiles, parts and accessories but the majority of them are earmarked for uses other than road building. In his message to Congress last week the President said that if a billion dollars were taken out of the federal tax paid on all new cars (it is paid by the manufacturer who is repaid by the purchaser of the car who is not allowed to deduct it in figuring his income tax as that privilege is given to the manufacturer) and transferred to the highway fund then some way would have to be found to provide more revenue for the purpose for which the car tax is being used.

Levies on products used daily on U.S. highways yield $1.5-billion annually that is all devoted to non-highway use. There is open season on the Highway Trust Fund at Washington. The Bureau of Labor has sought revenue from the Highway Fund to meet administrative costs. An attempt also is being made to drain off some of the highway funds to build forest roads that are little used by the public. Such roads have been paid for out of the treasury's general fund in the past. Only last year an attempt was made to siphon off $88-million a year from the highway fund for non-highway purposes.

When the highway program was set up by the federal government, it increased the gasoline tax from two to three cents. Now the Administration would increase it to 4½.

If the rest of the program is being set up like the east-west highway that would pass thru the Tinley Park airport and meander thru Joliet on its way to the west coast it is doubtful that any tax would provide sufficient funds.

Indications are that millions of dollars will be spent needlessly in extending the route from Tinley to Joliet. Instead of keeping to the southwest and crossing Hickory creek once at a narrow stretch, and the Wabash railroad south of New Lenox where the ground is firm instead of being peaty as it is in the vicinity of Marley, the road will swing northwest out of Tinley, cross the Rock Island railroad twice, the New York Central railroad and traverse Joliet.

It is said that a proposed cloverleaf at Gougar road which would involve the crossing of Hickory creek, the Rock Island and U.S. 30 will cost as much as the proposed high level bridge at Joliet, and that would be over the million mark.

The cost of buying a right-of-way thru Joliet, plus damage to nearby property will cost more millions, and in our book a complete waste of money. Routing the highway thru Joliet will not give that community anything but trouble. It will be of no practical value. The mayor and city officials would prefer to have the route by-pass Joliet.

Congress claims that after it appropriates the money for the highway department it has no control over how the funds are spent. If that is the case then perhaps it would be well for Congress to adopt a different system.

It seems that the least the lawmakers could do for the taxpayers is to see that their money is spent wisely and with as little waste as possible.

press convention that impressed me, was the necessity for news people to get together soon and have some sort of a law passed to exempt them from growing beards when their communities have a centennial celebration.

It would seem that beard growing is not only a routine procedure in setting up centennial programs, but mandatory.

To us this seems a cruel and unusual punishment on non-residents and while some of the bush faced contingent appear to take some satisfaction from their appearance, there are others who are extremely self conscious and go slinking down alleys and turning up coat collars to hide their faces.

Beards have their practical side, of course, such as covering up dirty collars or the fact that one does not have a collar, or even a shirt for that matter. They also have their disadvantages. For instance, we saw a beaver at Peoria kissing a girl thru a straw, and surely there are better ways than that.

We know that at least one of the hirsute group present at Peoria was a centennial celebrant because he wore a necktie advertising the event. We assume that the other hairy delegates at the press meeting were also preparing for centennials. At least we hope so. We would hate to think of members of the trade growing beards voluntarily and with malice aforethought.

The young men—incidentally all of the beard growers were young men—with the centennial tie apparently compromised and instead of a full set of whiskers was wearing a set of shaped and luxurious sideburns. He cut quite a figure and looked for all the world like a Mississippi river gambler in a "B" movie.

The speaker at the Friday luncheon, a Chicago lawyer who represents Dr. Fidel Castro and talked at some length on the life and plans of that figure, must have felt at home because out in front of him, about three tables distant was one of the beards, grown after the Cuban pattern.

One of the interesting points brought out by this speaker was that what is known as revolutionary law is practiced and followed in the Latin American countries. The gist of it appears to be that the party in power is the law, regard less of what may be in the constitution of the country involved.

And according to the evening speaker, Gov. Faubus, of Arkansas, the United States supreme court follows a similar dictum. The governor contends that the supreme court has been usurping the prerogative of Congress and has been making laws instead of interpreting them.

The governor appeared to make a very favorable impression on his hearers. He is quite a skillful speaker.

Some working newsmen were present to cover the speech and they had to watch the clock for deadlines, but the rest of us enjoyed it—didn't have to take a note.

DENTAL HEALTH SCOUT NEWS

Pack 253

The most effective weapon so far devised for cleaning the mouth and combating tooth decay is the toothbrush—when used properly.

Timing is the essence. The teeth should be brushed after each meal—and snack—dentists emphasize.

The secret of proper toothbrushing, they point out, is application of friction and pressure. Dentists call the method "inter dental" because, as the name implies, it concentrates on the areas between the teeth.

It takes the toothbrush out of the realm of a scrub brush and makes a series of tooth picks of its tufts.

One technique is to place the bristles at right angles along the line where the gum tissue meets the teeth. Pressure is then gently but firmly applied so that the ends of the bristles bend and slide off, penetrating into the space between.

As they penetrate, the sides of the bristles come into contact with the gum tissue and compress it. The upper teeth are brushed downward and the lower teeth are brushed upward.

Each stroke should be watched in the mirror.

Dr. Dorothy G. Hard of the University of Michigan deplores usual toothbrushing habits.

"Most people brush their teeth in front of a mirror," she points out, "but unless they are told to look at their teeth and gums as they brush them, they incline their heads forward and look in the wash bowl. They depend on feeling rather than sight."

"Those who wear glasses for reading should put them on when they brush their teeth."

Brushes should not be kept

Cubmaster Robert Raines, called Pack 253 to order at the last meeting. After a short warm up session led by the Cub master, Den 2 presented shadow puppets and Den 3 a skit entitled "Who's Scared?" The skits followed the theme for the month, "Down On the Farm."

Mr. Carr presented year pins to Allen Turner, Wm. Mattson, Bob Simenson and Blair Rauch.

During a candlelight ceremony Bear badges were awarded to Allen Turner, Corvin Anderson and Laurence Dober. Edward Hirsch received a Wolf badge.

New Bobcats inducted into the Pack were Phillip Raines, Donald Bailey and David Olson.

In a closed container. A closed container not only destroys the bristles and prevents drying out, but actually bacterial growth, dentists say. Brushes should be allowed to dry for 24 hours after use in order for the bristles to regain their original stiffness.

The best toothbrush is one with a long handle and firm bristles. The working head should be flat and long enough to cover several teeth at a time yet small enough to be effective in a crowded arch, especially on the tongue side of the lower front teeth.

Glenn F. Logan

The Illinois Press Association had its spring meeting at Peoria last Friday and Saturday and the affair drew approximately 300 publishers and staff members from all sections of the state, with practically all of them representing news weeklies.

This writer has been knocking around in the news gathering business for quite a few years and in the course of that time has covered numerous conventions, state and national, and the annual meetings of various state groups, but until last weekend had never been around newsmen in convention.

And it should be reported they were a well behaved and businesslike lot. The various session at which topics of interest to the trade were discussed, were well attended and between times the majority of them milled about in the lobby of the hotel instead of staking out claims to space at the bar or bars.

Some were to be found in such places, of course, but from necessity. You see the coffee was too hot and as a result tonsils and throats were burning. Naturally, some of the sufferers rushed about looking for fire extinguishers. There were none in the lobby but a fine assortment was to be found in the cool, shaded depths of the hotel bar.

It is too bad that outsiders didn't mingle with these august personages, most of whom are already round shouldered from carrying the burdens of world. Most conversations one hears at your ordinary conventions are on the light side, banal but naturally the snatches of talk one heard from the editors had meaning and inspiration.

We made no attempt to take notes but some of the pearls of wisdom and observation let fall from the lips of the writers present are treasures we would like to pass on:

"...there were three raises up to me and I'm sitting there with four spades topped with the ace-king..."

"...that's what I tried to tell my wife, but I guess all women think alike on those..."

Mushrooming Towns Must Have Industry to Survive New Citizens

THE NEWS-BULLETIN
Mokena, Illinois Thursday, May 21, 1959

(Editor's note: The following letter, addressed to William J. Weber, of Mokena, was written by Maurice P. Angland, chairman of the Mokena Plan Commission, on May 18. Weber appeared before the Mokena village board and the plan commission with a petition. According to the preamble of such petition the signers signified a desire to have industry barred from an area one and a half miles from the limits of Mokena.)

This petition was not filed with either body. It was shown to members, but when Mr. Weber left the hearings the petition went with him. The letter that follows is reproduced here because it covers points relative to community planning and zoning which should be of general interest to all residents of the area.)

"At the regular meeting of the Mokena Plan Commission April 15, 1959, you presented a petition which you advised was signed by in excess of 200 residents of this area. The purpose stated in the preamble, was a desire that industry be barred from an area one and one half miles from the corporate limits of Mokena.

"You advised the Plan Commission that you would return the petition to the village trustees where it was originally presented by you. The trustees would have sent the petition to us for study. On inquiry, we are informed that the petition is not now in their hands and was not returned to them.

"The Plan Commission is obligated to closely study any petition brought before it, but cannot do so under hurried conditions. We would require time to check all aspects. Naturally, we have made some casual inquiry as regards the petition and have found that some of the signers live outside the area under consideration. Some of the signers have stated they thought they were signing a petition for "spot zoning" of industry rather than barring it entirely. The word "industry" is not defined in the petition. In city planning the word industry is used merely to distinguish land use from residential and commercial. City planners find that opposition usually arises thru lack of information.

"At the outset, it should be pointed out that Mokena simply is not a suitable location for what is known as "heavy industry" which would mean smoke belching chimneys and attraction of unskilled laborers at the lower end of the economic scale. Our lack of suitable water supply for such industry would of itself make the area unsuitable for such plants.

"The Plan Commission does not have the funds to engage in a wide program to explain our duties and activities in detail. We are, therefore, taking the liberty of using this letter as a means of reaching persons who signed the petition and others. We are all striving for a better place in which to live and raise families and, if possible, avoid the tragic and expensive mistakes of areas which did not have the benefit of growth pattern laid out under the guidance of professional planning engineers. Lack of a planned growth pattern, has resulted in slums, heavy taxation and resultant social and political difficulties. These can be corrected only after expenditure of large sums of money and many years, if ever.

"The State of Illinois has passed legislation to encourage professional city planning and the national government has given considerable sums toward this end. The need for such planning has been expressed in many of the leading magazines recently. Its need as far as farmers are concerned, has been expressed in recent articles appearing in The Farm Journal, Progressive Farmer, and The Prairie Farmer. The farmer should have a keen interest in proper planning as the mistakes of a few farmers in selling portions of their farms for undesirable uses, can seriously harm the value of farms of neighbors. Spot zoning of industry and commercial locations is particularly bad.

"The present national budget includes an item titled "Urban Renewal" in the sum of about $1 billion. Authorities predict this item will be much greater each year. The funds have been appropriated largely to aid cities in their efforts to correct planning mistakes or lack of planning. Joliet is one of the cities applying for this aid. Blue Island and Harvey are both now in the throes of trying to correct past mistakes of planning. These are a few of the nearby towns making an effort to correct mistakes.

"The whole subject of planning is far too broad for this letter and we can only bring out a few points.

"History of movement to Mokena—is the same as that of most suburban towns. In recent years there has been a determined movement of families to areas where they could escape congestion of the city and the social and political problems which have come up thru uncontrolled growth. It is only a few years ago when the first considerable influx of such families came to Mokena and not all the then residents were happy with the new comers. These new comers brought in large families and increased school costs. They also sought to change customs of the village itself.

"However, the influx of new residents could not be stopped and the further growth of population cannot be stopped. This fact must be faced! Further, all the children of the school district must be given an education. With guidance of professional planning engineers, we can make sure that we grow under the best possible growth pattern, avoiding mistakes and pitfalls of other areas.

"Plan Commission—is a body of men appointed by the village trustees to devote themselves to study of desirable village growth. The commission acts only in an advisory capacity to the village trustees. After filing of what is known as a "Land Use Map" with the county, Illinois law gives the village control of land use within an area of one and one half miles from its borders. This land use map sets forth what land is best suited for and will be designated as residential, commercial and industrial. To avoid heavy tax load and to grow in an orderly manner, the recommended balance of land use is, 60 per cent residential, 20 per cent commercial and 20 per cent industrial. Plan commissions are usually assigned the study of placement of schools, parks, etc. Subdividers generally are required to dedicate a percentage of their proposed building areas, to use of parks and schools.

"Industrial Desirability— one point of interest here is that it gives local employment. Industrial development can be controlled thru making the area desirable for the better grade industrial placement. Many plants are landscaped and with attractive buildings. Control of the type of industry also controls the type of employees likely.

"Desirable industry simply will not locate in uncontrolled areas. They are at least as anxious to avoid placement in residential areas as residential is to avoid industry. Many industries employ what are known as "plant locators" to advise them on desirable locations for new plants. These men are specialists in this field of real estate and well aware of problems that arise in areas without planning controls.

"School costs are the largest of our tax costs. About 70 per cent of the tax payments of residents of Mokena and 84 per cent of rural area taxes, go toward education costs. These costs are definitely headed higher not lower. The age in which we live requires higher and higher educational attainments. This must be clear to all! The highly regarded U. S. News & World Report of May 18, 1959 includes an article on taxation in which school costs are studied. Comparison is made with costs of 1946 vs. 1959. The magazine points out that suburban towns become cities almost overnight and with many added tax costs. National averages on teacher salaries are up 119 per cent over 1946 and cost per class room—with related facilities—are up 100 per cent. Mokena has the benefit of being a rural area at present and costs below the national average.

"A desirable industrial installation with its added tax valuation, aids school funds and does not send any children to school. A number of plant proposals are expected as soon as we have filed our Land Use Map with definite industrial designations. One of them would have a starting plant value of about $350,000 and normal inventory value of $400,000. On the basis of present tax levy, this plant would pay an annual tax of $12,375 and no school children. A group of 100 homes would on the basis of present averages, send 200 children to grade school with a cost (exclusive of state aid) of $158.00 per year per pupil. This would add $21,600 annually to grade school costs. Assuming an average valuation of $14,000 for these 100 homes, total tax return would be $23,100 and 70 per cent for education, they would contribute $17,170 or a net loss of $3,430 per 100 homes and this without including high school costs. The industry mentioned a b o v e, would contribute a net gain of $8,662 to the education budget each year.

"The industrial plant referred to above, would require close to 40 acres. The average industrial installation uses far less of sewer facilities than the same area for residential use. The water bill will be comparable.

"In connection with this, it must be remembered that 30 per cent of Mokena taxes are now paid by the Rock Island RR and the utilities.

Towns which bar industry almost always get into financial troubles and the tax load reduces property values for resale purposes. Once industry has been barred and the tax pattern set on this line, industry will not enter the area as they are well aware of eventual results and will not gamble that the pattern can be changed. Towns that consist of largely residences, are known as "dormitory towns." Residents work in another area which collects taxes for its own school district, but does not pay for education of the worker's children living in a different school district. McCook is an example of a town in which industrial tax receipts are heavy and where most of its workers live in another area.

"An example of a dormitory town is had in Lombard. The brother of Albert P. Kuehbecker, vice chairman of the Mokena Plan Commission, has a modest home in Lombard. He estimates that a similar home in Mokena would have a 1958 tax bill of about $170. His brother paid a tax of $280 in 1955; $384 in 1957; and expects a tax bill of $450 for 1958 levy. The actual tax bill has not been received yet. He reports that his own and many other homes are for sale at considerable loss, but that buyers are very few. Many mortgage houses do not want loans in such areas.

"Industrial acreage often sells for a higher figure than residential acreage. A few farmers may benefit from quick sale for residential purposes of what should properly be industrial acreage and all other rural and town residents of the area must pay a heavy penalty for this gain for a few.

"This is one of the reasons for control under the Land Use Map. There are no controls so long as the farm is used for agricultural purposes. Controls enter only after the acreage is sold for other than agricultural use."

straw will sprout. These weeds will not mature due to lack of plant food in the straw. As a result, the straw will be nearly weed free when it is ready for use. Straw, sawdust and shavings, will control weeds if applied 3 to 4 inches deep.

Gardeners can either apply grass clippings directly to the soil as a mulch or incorporate them in a compost pile. However, if clippings come in contact with plant stems, they may cause rot.

If organic materials are used as a mulch, add more fertilizer to the soil. For every one inch of mulch, apply an additional two pounds of fertilizer per 1000 square feet. Two examples of organic materials are vermiculite and plastics. Vermiculite is a porous granular substance that holds moisture well.

Plastic sheets make a good mulch but must be perforated so that rain can reach the soil. Black plastic completely eliminates weed growth. White plastic allows some weed growth underneath. Ground covered with white plastic can be fumigated to control weeds but this is not practical for home gardeners.

Mulching materials are available at hardware stores, construction companies and nurseries.

Mulches Help to Prevent Weeds

By JAMES FIZZELL
Assistant Farm Adviser

Mulches applied to shrubs and evergreens and vegetables will help to prevent growth of weeds and to conserve moisture. Mulches soak up moisture and rainfall. They allow it to soak into the soil and thereby prevent surface evaporation, insuring an even moisture supply during the growing season. Germinating weeds are unable to reach light through the mulch and never become mature.

Mulching materials are classified as either organic or inorganic. Organic materials are broken down by soil micro-organisms and become part of the soil. Inorganic materials are not broken down. Examples of organic mulches are leaves, peat moss, straw, sawdust, shavings, grass clippings and paper.

Paper mulches are not orinary paper, but a special paper treated with a fungicide and a preservative. These materials help to control diseases and make the paper more durable. A paper mulch conserves moisture satisfactorily, completely eliminates weed growth. Its best use is probably in the vegetable garden, particularly on tomatoes. If straw is used, buy it one year in advance. Cut the wires and leave the bales outdoors so that any weed seeds in the Business and Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND

The major banking centers of the country have raised the "prime loan rate" from 4 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent, effective May 18.

This increase makes certain an increase in the rediscount rate of the Federal Reserve. The rediscount rate is that rate charged on loans by member banks from the Federal Reserve. This rate is now 3 1/2 per cent.

All this means that mortgage money and bank loans are going to cost more.

It also means that bond prices will decline so that the net yield is in line with current money rates.

At the present time there is a law which prohibits an interest rate in excess of 4 1/2 per cent on government bonds with more than five years to maturity. There has been a persistent rumor that congress would increase this maximum rate, but as yet the treasury has not requested the increase. However, it is difficult to see how the government will handle their refinancing of debt coming due in the next few months, without an increase. In August $31 billion of debt comes due and another $9 billion before the year end.

The treasury can, of course, do this refunding by issuance of securities of less than five year maturities on which there is no interest ceiling. However, short term bonds are usually bought by banks and this has the effect of expanding money supply with its fostering of inflation.

In the last few days, there is again an upward flurry in the shares of gold mining firms in this country and in Europe. There has been a recurring rumor that this country will devalue the dollar. However, the authorities in this country deny even the possibility. Rather, it is said this is a wishful development hoped for by owners of gold mining properties abroad and which would mean a nice profit to them.

An increase in the average interest rate paid on government bonds, would have considerable effect on the national budget. At present, the total interest charges are about $8 billion which is about 10 per cent of the total budget.

The U. S. News and World Report of May 4, 1959 in its study of the bond market generally, points out that inflation or the fear of continued inflationary pressures, is the prime reason for investor choice of stocks over bonds.

This magazine quotes a well known dealer in government bonds as stating "the Treasury is selling

Twenty six acts appeared on the South Cook Share the Fun program, held last week at the Central school in Tinley Park. It was a very entertaining evening for the crowd of over 250 persons, who attended the program. Each act was very entertaining and it was apparent that quite a bit of effort was put into preparation by 4H members, leaders and parents. These folks are to be congratulated for a job well done.

The judges selected the following acts as best representing the ideals of the Share the Fun program: Square Dance Team, Glenwood Aces 4H Club, Linda Bussema, Karen Wetzel, Ruth DeBoer, Larry Heusmann, Jim Bussema, Tom Addymann, all of Chicago Heights and Jack Gebert of Glenwood; Clover Belles 4-H Club, Barbara Schilling, Mar-

If you would like a few tomato plants for your garden, here are the recommended varieties for this part of the state: Early Sioux, Moreton Hybrid, Urbana and Glamour. Midseason: Improved Garden State, Rutgers, Big Boy, Brookston and Manalucio.

Farmers and others using 2,4-D to control weeds, are cautioned to be careful about spray drift to sensitive crops such as tomatoes, grapes and soybeans. Here are some recommendations to help reduce danger of spray drift: Do not apply 2,4-D on a windy day. Use a high gallonage sprayer that will spray the herbicide in a coarse, less concentrated spray. Use low pressure not over 30 pounds. Do not use 2,4-D adjacent to a sensitive crop.

The amine form of 2,4-D should be used because there is less danger of killing fumes after application. Drifting spray can also cause legal problems, so caution is in order.

A new paper mulch with a built in fungicide to fight decomposition, will greatly increase tomato and cucumber yields, according to test plot results at the University of Illinois last year.

Public Can Protect Youths and Stop Obscene Mail Order Racket

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield declared today the American public can halt the nation's half billion-dollar a year traffic in mail order obscenity.

Appealing for public support in his intensified war on "barons of obscenity" who are brazenly violating our homes the Postmaster General said, and soliciting our children, "the people themselves hold the final answer because they can put these filth merchants out of business."

Mr. Summerfield suggested these steps if obscene mail, or advertisements soliciting its sale, appears unordered in your home mail box:

1. Save all materials received, including the envelopes and all enclosures.

2. Report the matter immediately to your local Postmaster, and turn the materials over to him. (You may mail in your complaint and evidence if you wish.)

3. Stand ready to sign a formal complaint and testify if criminal action should be necessary.

Mr. Summerfield said public cooperation at this time is particularly important because the Federal Government is armed with new law which makes it possible to prosecute mail order filth dealers in local area courts.

Formerly, they could be prosecuted only at the point of origin of this material—usually a few big cities where obscene mail dealers have taken sanctuary behind legal technicalities and liberal court interpretations of what is obscene.

Public complaints are so vital to prosecution, Mr. Summerfield added, because the "filth factories" take advantage of "one of the nation's most cherished privileges to carry on their smutty trade—the uncensored letter—which is not subject to inspection."

"The American people cannot afford to be complacent about filth in the

Rezone Area for Bowling Alley At Midlothian

Despite objections raised by the school board of Bremen High school and residents in the area, the Midlothian zoning board and village board paved the way for the construction of a bowling alley adjacent to the school.

At a recent joint meeting of these two bodies, the petition of Jolly Home Builders, who are erecting homes in the area, was granted for rezoning in order to construct a bowling alley on Crawford ave., between 151 and 152nd sts., 180 feet from the high school.

A new village law requiring that ample parking area be provided in all new structures, will apply to the bowling alley.

It is proposed by the home builder to erect a 28 lane bowling alley at the site at a cost of $25,000. Construction is not expected to start before January 1960.

School officials objected to the proposed bowling alley because of its proximity to the school, fearing it would be a distracting influence to students. Other reasons for objections were that it was spot zoning. (The area is now residential) and that it was dangerous to have an establishment selling liquor so close to a school.

Japan topped the world in shipbuilding in 1958, Lloyd's Register of Shipping reports. West Germany went into 2nd place, closely followed by Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Sweden was next, slightly ahead of the U.S.
